30TH YEAR! AWARD-WINNING JOURNAL!

CALLALOO

A Journal of African Diaspora Arts and Letters

CHARLES H. ROWELL, Editor
Texas A&M University

"In this time of need for peace, healing, and intercultural understanding,* Callaloo *is clearly even more important to our spirit; essential."

—Lucille Clifton, author of The Book of Light

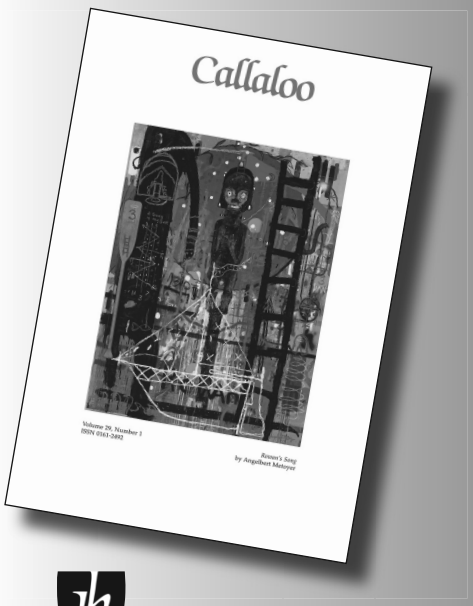
Callaloo, the premier journal of arts, letters, and cultures of the African Diaspora, publishes original works by, and studies of, black writers worldwide. The journal offers an engaging mixture of fiction, poetry, critical essays, interviews, drama, critical studies, and visual art. Frequent annotated bibliographies, specials issues dedicated to major writers and prominent social and cultural themes, and full-color, original artwork and photography are some of the features of this highly acclaimed international showcase of arts and letters. Recent thematic issues have included three bilingual issues on the people, literature, and art of Veracruz and Coyolillo, Mexico (26.4, 27.1, & 29.2); a much anticipated issue on hip-hop music and culture (29.3); and a monumental issue on Hurricane Katrina and New Orleans (29.4). The "Jazz Poetics" issue (25.1) was recognized as a best special issue by The Council of Editors of Learned Journals and the confederate flag issue (24.1) received honorable mention in the best single issue category from The Association of American Publishers.



Published quarterly in February, May, August, and November. With the generous support of Texas A&M University. Volume 30 (2007). Print ISSN: 0161-2492; E-ISSN: 1080-6512.
